I specialize in fear and anxiety, and have a great deal of experience with fear-aggression, both people and dog oriented. I love being able to change a dog's life so that they are able to enjoy their world and have freedom from fear and anxiety. My practice is holistic, meaning that I address the entire life and environment of the dog and their guardians and work together with them to resolve behavioral issues. The overarching purpose of my work is to bring harmony into the bond between people and dogs through understanding and communication between the species.

"Primum non nocere." - First, do no harm.

We believe that it is never necessary to harm, intimidate, frighten, bully, or threaten your dog in order to obtain "obedience". We believe that dog training should enhance the relationship you have with your dog. It should be a fun experience, not only for you, but for your dog as well.

We believe that continuing education is of utmost importance to the training process. This is why we attend at least one continuing educational course or seminar annually. We do this in order to stay informed of the latest training methods and techniques, and to bring you the best training experience possible.

I offer private training and behavior counseling in a completely positive environment. Because I own a pet product store I have the opportunity to meet lots of people with dogs on a daily basis, and many - most - are searching for answers to training questions. I use clicker training with 90% of my clients because it is quick, easy, fun and effective for both owner and dog. My favorite aspect of training is that ah-ha! moment when an owner understands that she or he can actually successfully communicate with their pets through proper training methods. I think what sets me apart from other trainers in the area is my willingness to address behavior problems because (Thanks, Academy) I am equipped with knowledge of effective, positive methods. I like the fact that, because of time restrictions due to my business, my training is limited to private sessions. The one-on-one really allows me to focus on issues in a more concentrated and intense manner than I would be able to accomplish in a class setting. I share a real sense of accomplishment and joy with students and dogs when I see them enjoying a hugely improved relationship after having allowed me to help them.

Why Just Pet Me? We develop relationships with our members that transcend the basic care provided at traditional daycare, boarding or training centers. Our staff is focused, detail-oriented and determined to accommodate our members' lifestyles and needs. We care for your dog like we do our own. Come visit us and let our members tell you.

One example of this commitment is our Puppy Program, which goes beyond socialization to help you raise your puppy to be a happy, well-mannered, life-long companion. All puppies receive the highest level of care from our friendly concierge team, following a curriculum that recognizes that the first seventeen weeks are the most critical in your puppy's life. It is when he most readily absorbs life skills such as potty training, coming when called, confidence with nail trims and baths, as well as social etiquette for interactions with other dogs and humans.

Though many puppy socialization and training classes exist, sessions are short. Just Pet Me, by contrast, provides consolidation of training with much more repetition during daycare stays.

Our lobby is open from 6AM to 9PM Monday through Friday to accommodate work schedules.

A Hound About Town's ("AHAT") mission is to build rewarding and meaningful relationships between humans and their canine companions. Bringing a dog into your home is impactful to your life and when behavior issues arise, that impact can certainly feel like a negative one.

AHAT's goal is not only to change unwanted behaviors, but to help owners better understand canine behavior and the physical and mental needs of their four-legged family member. Our training approach is positive, with relationship-building as the overriding principle.

AHAT welcomes any dog in need of a general polishing of manners or a change in undesired behaviors. Give us your jumpy, mouthy, antsy, barking, leash-pulling, door-dashing, shoe-eating canine and let us mold him (or her) into a companion that is perfect for you and your lifestyle. We also have experience working with shy or fearful dogs, and we find nothing more rewarding than changing a dog's feeling from upset ("Oh no!") to safe ("Ahhh...") or even enthusiastic ("Woo hoo!"). Certain aggression cases are taken as well.

AHAT also offers pre-adoption consultations to help you find the right canine match for your home, and what comes with being a responsible dog owner, as well as consultations for expecting families to help lay a foundation for a successful relationship between baby and dog.

Services

Classes, board & train, Agility, CGC, Fun Tricks.

We offer classes, based on a "Levels System" that provides dogs and owners flexibility regarding both when they attend and how quickly they progress through a class.

Levels Training is a multi-tiered obedience program designed for the busy owner. Each level introduces new and more complex skills for both dogs and owners. Dogs move to the next level after they have demonstrated proficiency of specific skill requirements at their current level. Our flexible schedule allows for owners to miss a week without falling behind, or to attend more frequently to consolidate learning. It benefits dogs by allowing them to learn at their own pace.

We use positive reinforcement methods to build a relationship out of respect and trust, not fear and punishment. We use treats, toys, praise - whatever your dog finds rewarding. We also discuss weaning off these rewards so as not to create "Show me the money" dogs. We believe that "Nothing in life is free" - dogs enjoy working to earn all the fun things in life.

I work with puppies of all ages and all breeds. In all my work with dogs and their people, among my goals are to enhance the bond between the two, and to so intermingle play with obedience that the dog can no longer differentiate between the two. I love challenging cases. I strive to make my classes and private fun and educational. All training and counseling is done by me personally. I consider it a privilege to work with dogs and their people.

Fifteen years of teaching high school and young college students have taught me to approach behavior issues with understanding, flexibility, kindness and humor. When I started dog training in 1996, I was delighted to find that the same qualities applied.

While I adore early training for puppies and teaching raw-recruit rescue dogs basic manners, I get most excited by applying non-aversive training methods to turn around a dog who is about to be given up because of a problem the guardian is unable to resolve, such as separation anxiety, leash aggression and dog reactivity. Each new dog presents a new challenge and a new chance to learn. I have successfully worked with clients who are seniors or are otherwise physically challenged.

I believe dog training should be based on recognizing and understanding dogs' natural behaviors. Then, scientific-based animal learning theory should be used to change those behaviors to fit within the context of the dog/human relationship. I am not a method trainer. I believe dog training must be practical and I always try to listen to people's concerns about their dogs' behavior. Training should be used to build a bond based on trust and respect, not one of fear or intimidation. And, training should be fun for both the person and the dog!

Because of my background in working with rescued animals, I specialize in working with fearful dogs.

Jersey Shore Dogs was voted "Best of the Best" Pet Services in Middlesex County, NJ!

Jersey Shore Dogs offers positive reinforcement based dog training services, including basic obedience, behavior modification and problem solving, and puppy kindergarten group classes. We are located in Central New Jersey, but provide in-home dog training, allowing us to service the entire state, and select areas in New York and Pennsylvania.

Our force-free training methods are based on animal learning theory and have been scientifically proven to have greater success and fewer detrimental side effects than dangerous methods involving force, pain, fear or intimidation. Our effective techniques produce reliable and consistent results, helping strengthen the bond, and creating a less stressful environment for both owner AND dog. Our training sessions are tailored to meet the individual goals that owners have for their dogs, concentrating on the problem areas most important to THEM.

About Matt Tuzzo, CTC, CPDT-KA – Owner/Head Trainer

Matt started his dog training business after realizing many trainers fail to relate to owners. He founded Jersey Shore Dogs on the belief that dog training should be offered from the owner's perspective – empathizing with the owner AND dog, not just the dog. Matt ensures owners feel comfortable and confident during training sessions, and that both owner and dog have a positive, fulfilling experience.

Matt's education includes a B.S. in Business Administration from Villanova University. He received his CTC (Certificate in Training and Counseling) certification from The Academy, mentoring under world-renowned dog trainer Jean Donaldson, author of The Culture Clash. He also holds CPDT-KA (Certified Professional Dog Trainer-Knowledge Assessed) and ABCDT (ABC Certified Dog Trainer) designations, is a member of the Pet Professional Guild (the association for force free pet professionals), and is listed on Truly Dog-Friendly.

Matt's ongoing success in solving behavior problems, in dogs of all ages, has led to him writing for a variety of dog related publications. Additionally, he attends yearly educational workshops and seminars to stay up-to-date with the most accurate research findings on animal behavior. I specialize in Day Training: I come to your home to train your dog, and then teach you and your family how to elicit the new behaviors via coaching sessions. I also offer board & train, private coaching sessions and classes.

I believe in taking into account the "bigger" picture underlying your situation with your dog and like to approach every case with this in mind. Once I know what your situation is and your goals are, I design specific training and management plans to help you reach your goals.

I am keenly interested in working with animals who suffer from emotional issues such as aggression, fear and anxiety. However, I also love working with rowdy young dogs and puppies. Most of my training sessions involved the use of TTouch®. I have found that by combining both of these approaches dogs are more relaxed and thus open for learning.

“Understanding Changes Everything”

As our world becomes increasingly hectic and our expectations for our pet dogs increase, we strive to help our clients see their dogs from the inside-out, considering not only behavior, but the dog as a whole, including on a genetic and evolutionary basis. We specialize in a consulting approach to dog training that focuses on practical and compassionate instruction, and hands-on coaching for all common manners and behaviors.

Because the field of dog training can be intimidating for dog owners, we pride ourselves on customizing our services to make training and behavior modification effective, dog-friendly and practical without sacrificing a solid foundation in scientific principles of learning and ethology. Dogs have an increasingly important role for us humans, and we strive to help our clients achieve the goals they have for their dogs, using a combination of sound techniques and the innate “dog-ness” the dogs themselves bring to the table.

I love helping people understand that there is almost always much that can be done to help their dog. Many people are hurt and confused by their dog's behavior. The goal of all C&C PALS training is "to teach people how to bring out the best in their dogs" using humane, positive training skills. A training class should be much more than just obedience. It should be fun and enjoyable and aid in the creation of a bond of mutual trust and love between owners and their dogs. With positive training, dogs and owners can forge a wonderful relationship and the dog can become a good member of the family. This gentle approach has not only been scientifically proven to be quick and reliable for all breeds and types of dogs but also allows all members of the family, including children, to train effectively.

C&C PALS always strives to provide the highest quality of instruction and the most modern and comfortable facilities. Courses of instruction at all levels include more classes than offered by other local trainers, and each class is also longer, which provides more time for learning and practice. All C&C PALS instructors follow well-designed lesson plans that took years to develop. Classes are small, with multiple instructors to provide students plenty of individual attention. All classes include in-depth handouts, as well as awards and graduation certificates to reward accomplishments. All classes are held in indoor facilities that are heated and air-conditioned for year-round comfort. Observers are always welcome to sit in on our classes.

A sampling of the classes we offer: Multiple levels of obedience; CGC; Outdoor Adventure; Rally; K9 Nose Work; Conformation Handling; Tricks; Pet First Aid. We also offer in-home behavior consultations and in-home obedience classes.

In 2000, I founded the first positive reinforcement dog training school and behaviour counseling service in the Southeast Asia Region for HKSPCA. I was Head of the Behaviour, Training and Hearing Dog Programme, specialising in service/assistance dog training, temperament testing, animal (feline, canine and rodent) behaviour counseling and dog obedience training.

I set up Pawsitive Tails - "the pet solutions expert" - in 2003 to improve the lives of animals and their people. I offer training at all levels and in a variety of forms. It is my belief that training and behaviour modification should be safe, enjoyable, and successful for both the animal and the humans who love them. Through Pawsitive Tails, I teach animal-sense, pet manners and solve behaviour problems.

I am Hong Kong's only U.S. Nationally Certified Professional Pet Dog Trainer and am certified by The Academy for Dog Trainers. I have extensive animal care and training experience through my work at HKSPCA for over seven years, am a popular speaker, and train for various organizations including the HK government, for dog handlers, training instructors and pet guardians. I also had a popular dog training education show at Hong Kong Ocean Park. I am a guest lecturer and examiner for the Veterinary Nursing degree course at the Hong Kong Polytechnic University.

I have trained alongside the world's most renowned and prestigious animal trainers, and have trained children, cats, dogs, chickens, tigers, alligators, goldfish, guinea pigs, rabbits and dolphins, among other species. I continue to build my skill set, and am now widely recognised as one of Hong Kong's pre-eminent animal trainers. As guardian of three cats and a dog, it would also seem I can't avoid taking home work from the office.

We also schedule different lectures and offer socialization for puppies and small dogs as well as dog walking services.

We try hard to offer a variety of activities suitable for different dog-handler teams with different aims and life styles, but always with one common goal: to strengthen the bond between people and their dogs.

We KNOW why owners give up their dogs and we work to prevent that. Basic obedience is some of it, LIVING with a polite pet who listens is most of it. We cover problem behaviours, including toilet training, jumping up, barking, scratching and whining. Public and private lessons stress the importance of early socialisation of your dog with people and other dogs.

Specialising in out of control young and adolescent dogs! Dog-dog aggression dealt with at our kennel facility, using our own dogs in a controlled environment. We offer discounts for rescue dogs and Puppy Packages.

Dogs do what works. Understand how your dog learns. We teach you to teach your dog. Personalised evaluations and booklets given with every lesson.
